Organised by	Department of Zoology, Nanda Nath Saikia College, Titabar.
Number of teacher coordinators	02
Number of students	33

Report:

On the 2nd of February, 2021 a field trip was carried out to Hoollongapar Gibbon Sanctuary with a group of 33 students, all from 1st semester having Zoology Honours. They were accompanied by the teachers-in-charge, Dr. Manashi Bortamuly (HoD) and Mitali Chetia, Assistant Professors from Zoology Department. The journey started at 8:30 am and we reached the spot at around 9:30 am. After completing the official formalities, we headed towards the forest led by the forest officials. In a little deeper part of the forest, we spotted the awesome Gibbons. The male was black in colour and the female was brown in colour. The white eyebrows that they possessed were one of their distinctive features. We also spotted the stump tailed macaque and a capped langur. The sanctuary holds the distinction of harbouring these unique animals apart from other animals for which we needed to go still deeper and toil harder. On returning back to the start spot, the official briefed us about the history of the Gibbon sanctuary. He told us about the different animals harbouring the sanctuary and explained to us about its ecological significance. After having our lunch and a short milling around, we headed towards our journey back and safely reached back our college premises at around 2:30 pm. In short, it was fun and wonderful learning experience. It surely pinched us to appreciate the different wonders of nature.

Twenty five (25) researcher/academicians had presented their research papers in this academic session. The first paper was presented by Dr. Nibedita Paul, Professor, Dept. of Social Work, University of Science & Technology, Meghalay and the title of her paper was on "Socio-Economic Vicinity of Dimasa Tribe of South Assam". This paper critically examines initiatives for greater participation in socio-economic segment of tribal communities of India, arguing that current policy does not effectively enough to facilitate greater participation and may, in fact, go against the stated principle of ensuring greater equity. The paper relies on fieldwork-based study to support arguments for the need to be culturally sensitive in making appropriate provisions for the socio-economic activity of scheduled tribes in India. The tribes of North Eastern Regions of India attracted the attention of sociologists, social anthropologists and administrators in order to understand the fabric of their socio-cultural life. But there are very few studies that reveal the process of modernization and development among the tribes of N. E. Region. In spite of primitive technology and poor economic condition the North East India is rich in spinning, dyeing and weaving which are primarily controlled by womenfolk. In Assam, the Cachari (Dimasa/Barman/Sonowal) are expert in rearing indigenous variety of cocoon, which is used for manufacturing of silk/cotton cloths. It is very clear that North Eastern Region has a very high potential for the development of textile entrepreneurship as most of the tribal women already have weaving skill. The need is only to provide necessary technical and financial support and marketing facilities

Dr. Surendra Kumar, Associate Professor, University of Delhi during Technical Session

Atrayee Kashyap, Research Scholar, Dept. of Cultural and Creative Studies North- Eastern Hill University, Shillong, Meghalaya has presented her paper on Exploring the Origin and the Folk Musical Tradition of the Deoris residing in Assam. The Deoris belong to the Sino-Tibetan family of Mongoloid stock. They are considered to be one of the communities found in Assam and some parts of Arunachal Pradesh in North- East India. The word Deori means the offspring of Gods and Goddesses. The Deori culture is facing danger from the clutches of globalization and striving hard to flourish. Such endangered culture so sprung -up by the nature thousand years past now deserve preservation and propagation by the government itself from being extinct. The paper is a humble endeavour to deal with the notions of authenticity, locality, vitality of oral culture and cultural identity of the Deori Community, in the realm of folklore.

As part of Celebration of 75 Years of Indian Independence
(Azadi Ka Amrit Mahotsav)

The Freedom Struggle of India was undoubtedly the biggest mass movement witnessed by the world. Thousands of freedom fighters actively participated in the struggle of independence soon after the British Colonial forces had taken control of our political and economic independence. The freedom movement of Assam did not start under the banner of any single party, rather it was the contribution of Several Parties vis-a-vis organizations and institutions. It was movement of people against the colonial plunder and domination. During this struggle thousands of people sacrificed their lives, thousands of events took place at different places across the country. Unfortunately, only a few have been recognized, published and recorded. Many more were left unsung heroes. Therefore, it is of utmost importance and need of the hours to review and rewrite the history of the unsung heroes and unheard events, literature, songs, dramas and places and present it before our country a real and comprehensive history of Indian freedom struggle.

Uttar Purbo Bharat including Assam is also of no expectation in the line with the rest of India while writing the Itihas of freedom movement as well as unsung heroes. Assam fell under the colonial regime following the historic Treaty of Yandaboo on 24th February, 1826. Immediate resentment was the revolt of Gomodhar Konwar, a year after the Treaty of Yandaboo. Following the revolt of Gomodhar Konwar, people of the regime took part in various phases of the anti-colonial movement widely called as freedom struggle of India. Contribution of Dhanonjoy Borgohain, Pitambar Dev Goswami, Satradhikarof Garamur Satra, Majuli, Krishna Nath Sharma of Jorhat, Laikheswar Baruah, known as Charigonor President, Jorhat, Kushal Konwar and Daiki Dasi Baruah of Golaghat, Basonti Bordoloi and Aikon Bhuyan of Jorhat, Tikheswar Borgohain of Sivasagar, Motram Hatimurta of Charaideo, Paniram Duarah of Titabar, Shubhan Boruah of Dhekiajuli, Jorhat in the freedom movement of India from Undivided Sivasagar District are few examples who are yet to be properly assessed and recognized.

Keeping in view of writing and rewriting the history of unsung heroes of Indian Freedom Movement from Undivided Sivasagar District (comprised of Sivasagar, Jorhat, Golaghat, Charaideo, Majuli districts) and for documenting them as real heroes of the nation, the Bharatiya Itihas Sankalan Samiti of Jorhat District in collaboration with ICHR and Teachers Unit of N. N. Saikia College, Titabar is going to organize a National Seminar with the theme, “Unexplored History of Indian Freedom Movement with special reference to Undivided Sivasagar District of Assam” to be held on 24th December, 2021.

Therefore, the interested academicians, Faculty members of Various colleges universities, research scholars, Students, social scientists, policy makers and interested persons are requested to contribute original research papers and actively take part in the deliberation in the seminar.

The following are the sub-themes with broad categories:

"Exploring the Role of Subhas Chandra Bose in the Second World War and Freedom Movement of India with Special reference to North East India"

Thematic Rationale:

Netaji Subhas Chandra Bose was one of the greatest freedom fighter of India who shook the British Empire completely and compelled them to leave our country. In the year 1938 and 1939 he was elected as the president of Indian National congress but due to the differences of opinion with Gandhiji and his followers he left the congress and formed Forward Block. Due to his active involvement in Freedom struggle he was placed under house arrest by the British. At the outset of the Second World War, he had travelled to a number of countries, including Soviet Union, Nazi Germany, and Japan to seek alliance to attack the British in India and expelled them out from the country. In 1942 Netaji went to Japan and there he had organize the POW to form an army for the cause of independence of India. He assured full co-operation with Hideki Tojo, the Prime Minister of Japan for India's freedom from British dominions and the Japanese had handed over the island of Andaman and Nicobar to Subhas Chandra Bose in 1944. With his huge number of soldiers of the INA and support from like minded countries Netaji has given the slogan 'Delhi Cholo'.

When it comes to North-East India, the issue demands as well as deserves focal attention, since the significance of the roles played by this part of the land gets blurred when the National Leader is viewed from a global arena. North-East India has gone through the same turmoil of war waves as witnessed by other parts of India. Contribution of North East part of India is equally significant when talked of India's War of Independence. The Indian National Army led by Subhas Chandra Bose, the Japanese troop, and the civilians of North East in connection to their respective vision and interest have gone through phases that history needs to recollect with more vigour and specificity. In 1938, Netaji came to Assam as the president of AICC after getting invitation from Gopinath Bordoloi. The period was very critical for Assam.

When the Second World War broke out the national leaders of India declared that all the Congress Ministries should resign from the Government. However, Netaji had the clear views that the Bordoloi's Government need not resign because of the unique vulnerability of Assam on the border of India. Subhash Chandra Bose and his coming to Naga Hills has many opinions which leave us on the verge of fact finding and research documentations that might reveal a new phase of knowing Bose through close quarters. North-East India and especially Nagaland has gone through the same turmoil of war waves as witnessed by other parts of India.

Many facts and records on Subash Chandra Bose is still not getting proper attention. A systematic study and research would necessary to highlight all the hidden aspects of Netaji's role in the freedom movement of India. The present seminar will try to highlight the role of Netaji in the Second World War and freedom movement of India with special reference to North Eastern region.

made. Few days back, one scholar told that mainland historians or national historians are concerned mostly the Gengetic-Valley centric. The history of the INAMovement or the Azad HindFauj in North-East India is not free from this indifferent treatment by the mainland scholars and regional historians as well. Dr. Baruah in his keynote speech has presented an in-depth study on the role of Netaji as the leader of INA, contributions regarding the freedom movement and his relation with the leaders of Assam and North East has been highlighted. Contributions of the people of the region and the necessity to study on the role of Netaji have also been elaborately discussed in his thought provoking deliberations.

Speech by Invited Guest:

Dr. Surendra Kumar, Faculty of Social Sciences, Department of History, University of Delhi presented the speech of Guest of Honour and Resource Person. Dr. Kumar has highlighted the relevance of Netaji's life towards the freedom movement of the country. Liberation from a colonial state is a challenging process involving multiple voices operating at multiple levels to deconstruct and end oppressive system. Another important aspect of liberation is crafting of consciousness rooted in rights of human beings in continuity with progressive traditions. In case of India, the space was continuously shaped by diversity, dialogue, conflict and convergence. No doubt, the idea of recognizing colonial state is visible as early as 18th century, but the shaping of consciousness for freedom involving psychological, political, social and economic can clearly dated in last decade of 19th century. Subhash Chandra Bose is symbol of revolt by young educated people in 20th century. Since anti-colonial struggles cannot be controlled and dictated, the struggle of Subhash Chandra Bose represent an idea that liberation is inbuilt tendency of human beings and it cannot be demolished. From participating in Indian National Congress, working in North East India etc., to making alliances with British, Japanese and Soviet State, Subhash Chandra Bose represent undying spirit of youth committed to idea of liberation at the cost of total sacrifice. Historically, his contribution shows that liberation of human beings cannot be annihilated by colonial state and society based on rights of people is idea nurtured naturally in human beings as well as living beings. Therefore, Subhash Chandra Bose represents this idea of common man. Dr. Kumar has also discussed about the role of the people of North East India in India's freedom struggle and highlighted Subhas Chandra Bose's relations with the region. The history of INA in North East India and Assam has been presented by the speaker.

Another Invited Guest and Resource person Dr. Biswajit Baruah, Dean, Faculty of Social Sciences, Dibrugarh University has discussed about the unsung heroes of Assam. According to him the unsung heroes of the freedom movement of India should have been highlighted and thanks the ICHR (New Delhi) for sponsoring various seminars to highlight the those parts of history which were earlier not getting proper attention. It is very important to bring new facts regarding the contributions of Subhas Chandra Bose who played a vital role in India's freedom movement.

Technical Sessions (Day 1)

Academic Session I (11.00AM TO 1.30 PM)

After the end of the inaugural session the first Technical Session starts at Room No. 26 of Nanda Nath Saikia College, Titabar from 11.00 am. In the first Academic session Dr. Surendra Kumar, Associate Professor, Department of History, University of Delhi was the Resource Person and this session started from 11.00 am to 1.30 pm. Dr. Biswajit Baruah, Dean, Faculty of Social Sciences, Dibrugarh University also attended the session as special invitee. Sixteen (16) researcher/academicians had presented their research papers in this academic session. The first paper was presented by Mitali Borah, Asst. Professor, Department of History, Melamara College, Golaghat. The title of her paper was on Subhas Chandra Bose and Freedom movement of India. This paper critically examines about the role played by Subhas Chandra Bose in the freedom movement of the country. According to her paper Netaji was an outstanding leader of the Indian freedom movement. A fearless and indomitable fighter, Subhash Bose was one of the greatest patriots of the world. He was a dynamic man of action. He was undoubtedly the most dominant figure in the struggle for India's freedom next to Gandhi. He had taken active role for Indian freedom movements. He was elected president of Congress for two terms in 1938 and 1939. But soon he developed difference with Mahatma Gandhi and other Congress leader. He resigned from the Congress. Thereafter he formed Forward Block. He was convinced that India could not achieve independence without foreign assistance. When the Second World War broke out the British government put Subhash Bose under house arrest for his well known stand. However he escaped the government guards and reached Japan. He organized all the Indian prisoners of war in to Indian National Army and attacked the eastern borders of India. He hoped that as soon as he would launch an attack, the Indian's would rise against the British. This paper makes an attempt to search Netaji's contribution in the freedom movement of India.

Anindita Das, Research Scholar, Department of Tribal Studies and History of Assam University (Diphu Campus) has presented her paper on the topic 'The Forgotten Army, Azadi Ke Liye - Studying INA History through the Web Series'. According to her Study on historical events is always a strong desire to know something new. Many incidents happened during the period of the Indian freedom struggle; the Indian National Army was an armed force formed in the year of 1942 by Indian nationalists. It is also known as Azad Hind Fauj. Mohan Singh, the founder of this force later recommended Subash Chandra Bose for the leadership role. His guidance tried to revamp the force and influence more to be a model on the diversity by region, ethnicity, religion, and even gender. The Forgotten Army, is a television series where the plot for the show took from the true event on INA. The story is based on the story of Indian soldiers who marched towards the capital, with the war cry 'Challo Dili', to gain Indian independence from the colonial rule. An attempt is being made to know the fighting to attain freedom through a cinematic view.

Rongai Bhuyan and Utpal Bordoloi (joint paper) of Dr. Nabin Bordoloi College, Jorhat has presented their paper on the topic Subhas Chandra Bose and Manipur Connections. Subhas Chandra Bose had made relations with Manipur. The Imphal campaign including the battle of Kohima has more significance as far as the activities of INA are concerned in North East India. Moirang, in Manipur, has a special place in the Indian freedom movement. It was there during the Second World War that the soldiers of the Indian National Army, led by Netaji Subhas Chandra Bose, unfurled the tricolor.

Sachin Kumar, Research Scholar, Department of History of University of Delhi and Anuradha, Research Scholar of Punjab University (joint paper) has presented their paper on 'Women Empowerment and Subhas Chandra Bose'. The issue of women empowerment is very complex during 1900 -1947. The complexity is not only due to colonial state but also due to evolving role of women in Indian subcontinent. Unlike the west, the gender relations have been evolved in a very different trajectory in Indian subcontinent. Obviously, the issue of empowerment needs to be situated beyond the frame of public vs private space. He inspired millions of Indians especially youth to act with fortitude in the face of adversity and infused in them a spirit of patriotic fervour. However, the legacy of SC Bose is unparalleled when it comes to women empowerment and gender equality. The man who supported an all India organisation for women, formed women regiment, the Jhansi regiment, to fight for India's struggle and showed immense faith in the capability of women to understand the political struggle and to act with determination at par with men. This paper attempted to comprehensively and objectively analyse the dominant ideologies of Bose and put in perspective his views about women in contextual realities of the time.

Krishna Kalita, Asst. Professor of Namrup College and Rajib Das, Asst. Professor, Department of History of N.N. Saikia College, Titabar (joint) presented their paper on the topic 'A study on the Political Philosophy of Subhas Chandra Bose'. Though Subhas Chandra Bose acknowledged the national movement of India under the leadership of Mahatma Gandhibut he believed the freedom of India couldn't be achieved only by the Gandhian ideology, so he resorted to foreign assistance was essential for winning freedom and tried his best to enlist the support of Axis powers during the Second World War. He developed an ethical approach to life based on self-sacrifice, self- abnegation and renunciation which is in a way the core of a democratic way of life. Thus he never compromised with the British imperialism. His life was almost a total dedication to the cause of the attainment of 'swaraj' developed a clear vision of his own-an ideology of his own-in respect of 'Swaraj'. It is to be noted that he was not a political philosopher in the strict sense of the term but he had developed a philosophy of life and has left behind a political philosophy of his own which could be deciphered from his writings and speeches .In this paper an attempt has been made to trace the political philosophy of Subhas Chandra Bose on the spun of his quest to freedom of India from the British Colonialism.

Durlabh Bori, Assistant professor, Department of History, Melamara College, Golaghat has presented his paper on Subhas Chandra Bose and Women Empowerment. Role of women in INA of Netaji has been highlighted in this paper.

Similarly, Dr. Pradip Barman, Asst. Professor, Department of History of Rangapara College ha presented his paper on ‘an Analytical Study on the Significance of Subhas Chandra Bose’s Visit to Assam. According to Dr. Barman Assam was known to be an important province of British India and during the freedom movement, it played a vital role in the same. During the movement for liberation, the leaders of the movement like Mahatma Gandhi, Subhas Chandra Bose, etc. visited Assam mainly for political purposes. Subhas Chandra Bose visited Assam first in the year 1938 and again in 1939. His first visit was for the settlement of the formation of ministry under Gopinath Bordoloi. After the election of the Legislative Assembly in 1937, Sir Syed Sadulla formed the coalition Government in Assam. But this ministry could not run for a long time and it was ultimately dissolved on 13th August 1938. In this situation, the Indian National Congress in Assam invited Sunhas Chandra Bose to visit Assam to help in the formation of the ministry under Gopinath Bordoloi. Accordingly, Subhas Chandra Bose came to Assam and by dint of his ability and discretion, the said ministry was formed. The formation of Bordoloi Ministry in Assam had far-reaching effects in the politics of Assam. Subhas Chandra Bose visited Assam in October 1939 for the second time to respond to the invitation of All Assam Progressive Youth Association.
