Technical Sessions (Day 1)

Academic Session I (11.00AM TO 1.30 PM)

After the end of the inaugural session the first Technical Session starts in two rooms simultaneously in the college premises of Nanda Nath Saikia College, Titabar from 11.00 am. In the first Academic session Dr. Surendra Kumar, Associate Professor, Department of History, University of Delhi was the Resource Person and this session started from 11.00 am to 1.30 pm at Room No. 26 of the college. Twenty five (25) researcher/academicians had presented their research papers in this academic session. The first paper was presented by Dr. Nibedita Paul, Professor, Dept. of Social Work, University of Science & Technology, Meghalay and the title of her paper was on "Socio-Economic Vicinity of Dimasa Tribe of South Assam". This paper critically examines initiatives for greater participation in socio-economic segment of tribal communities of India, arguing that current policy does not effectively enough to facilitate greater participation and may, in fact, go against the stated principle of ensuring greater equity. The paper relies on fieldwork-based study to support arguments for the need to be culturally sensitive in making appropriate provisions for the socio-economic activity of scheduled tribes in India. The tribes of North Eastern Regions of India attracted the attention of sociologists, social anthropologists and administrators in order to understand the fabric of their socio-cultural life. But there are very few studies that reveal the process of modernization and development among the tribes of N. E. Region. In spite of primitive technology and poor economic condition the North East India is rich in spinning, dyeing and weaving which are primarily controlled by womenfolk. In Assam, the Cachari (Dimasa/Barman/Sonowal) are expert in rearing indigenous variety of cocoon, which is used for manufacturing of silk/cotton cloths. It is very clear that North Eastern Region has a very high potential for the development of textile entrepreneurship as most of the tribal women already have weaving skill. The need is only to provide necessary technical and financial support and marketing facilities

Dr. Surendra Kumar, Associate Professor, University of Delhi during Technical Session

Atrayee Kashyap, Research Scholar, Dept. of Cultural and Creative Studies North- Eastern Hill University, Shillong, Meghalaya has presented her paper on Exploring the Origin and the Folk Musical Tradition of the Deoris residing in Assam. The Deoris belong to the Sino-Tibetan family of Mongoloid stock. They are considered to be one of the communities found in Assam and some parts of Arunachal Pradesh in North- East India. The word Deori means the offspring of Gods and Goddesses. The Deori culture is facing danger from the clutches of globalization and striving hard to flourish. Such endangered culture so sprung -up by the nature thousand years past now deserve preservation and propagation by the government itself from being extinct. The paper is a humble endeavour to deal with the notions of authenticity, locality, vitality of oral culture and cultural identity of the Deori Community, in the realm of folklore.

"Exploring Local History and Folk Culture of the Indigenous people of North East India with special Reference to Assam"

Thematic Rationale:

North East India is indeed a paradise unexplored and one of the best destinations for folk traditions and cultures with distinctive local history of the indigenous people. People belonging to various religions, customs, beliefs and practices are living in this area and people are preserving it. North East India includes 7 contiguous states and out of these seven states Assam is geographically largest in size and unity in diversity is one of the main features of the state. People belonging to various ethnic groups are living in the region since time immemorial. The indigenous Assamese people of the region include ethnic groups like the Bodos, Ahoms, Chutias, Rabhas, Tiwas, Karbis, Dimasas, Rabhas, Mising, Koch Rajbongshis, Sonowal and Thengal Kacharis, Tea tribes, Kalitas, Keot, Tai Phake, Mech, Motok, Deuris, Assamese Muslims (Goria, Moria, Deshi) etc. All these indigenous groups have their own distinct language, culture and traditions, beliefs and customs which culminate for the formation greater Assamese society.

Folklore and local history is important to understand the societies in the context of preserving cultural diversity and protecting the culture of the indigenous people and social groups. Folklore is an important source for the writing of history. Folklore is significant to explain and understand societies in the context of preserving cultural diversity and protecting minority cultures, especially those of indigenous peoples and marginalized social groups. Similarly, studying history to most of us means studying history on a grand scale.

The rise and fall of civilizations, the progress of major social and economic changes, everything in short that affects whole countries, peoples and world events. The big picture of history as given by these studies is vitally important, but it is worthwhile to remember that those major processes and events we learn about were made up of individuals, families, locales and communities that all played their part in shaping and being shaped by history. Local history contains a wealth of details and stories that help reveal how societal changes impacted the lives of ordinary people. The automobile transformed society in many ways such as making transportation and communication far easier. Learning about local history turns the grand patterns of historical change into concrete stories that tell of the lives of individuals. The North Eastern region of India and particularly Assam has vast source of local history but its study and research in this aspects still remains limited. It is very important to find out the hidden local history of the region and that of the indigenous people. Most of the records of ancient history of the people remains in darkness due to lack of proper sources on that aspects.

National Seminar on Unexplored History of Indian Freedom Movement with special reference to Undivided Sivasagar District of Assam

Organised by :

Nanda Nath Saikia College Teachers' Unit, Titabar

In Collaboration with:

Indian Council of Historical Research, New Delhi

As part of Celebration of 75 years of Indian Independence
(Azadi Ka Amrit Mahotsav)

The Freedom Struggle of India was undoubtedly the biggest mass movement witnessed by the world. Thousands of freedom fighters actively participated in the struggle of independence soon after the British Colonial forces had taken control of our political and economic independence. The freedom movement of Assam did not start under the banner of any single party, rather it was the contribution of Several Parties vis-a-vis organizations and institutions. It was movement of people against the colonial plunder and domination. During this struggle thousands of people sacrificed their lives, thousands of events took place at different places across the country. Unfortunately, only a few have been recognized, published and recorded. Many more were left unsung heroes. Therefore, it is of utmost importance and need of the hours to review and rewrite the history of the unsung heroes and unheard events, literature, songs, dramas and places and present it before our country a real and comprehensive history of Indian freedom struggle.

Uttar Purbo Bharat including Assam is also of no expectation in the line with the rest of India while writing the Itihas of freedom movement as well as unsung heroes. Assam fell under the colonial regime following the historic Treaty of Yandaboo on 24th February, 1826. Immediate resentment was the revolt of Gomodhar Konwar, a year after the Treaty of Yandaboo. Following the revolt of Gomodhar Konwar, people of the regime took part in various phases of the anti-colonial movement widely called as freedom struggle of India. Contribution of Dhonojoy Borgohain, Pitambar Dev Goswami, Satradhikarof Garamur Satra, Majuli, Krishna Nath Sharma of Jorhat, Lakheswar Baruah, known as Charigaonor President, Jorhat, Kushal Konwar and Daiki Dasi Baruah of Golaghat, Basonti Bordoloi and Aikon Bhuyan of Jorhat, Tikheswar Borgohain of Sivasagar, Motram Hatimuria of Charaideo, Paniram Duarah of Titabar, Bhuban Boruah of Dhekiajuli, Jorhat in the freedom movement of India from Undivided Sivasagar District are few examples who are yet to be properly assessed and recognized.

Keeping in view of writing and rewriting the history of unsung heroes of Indian Freedom Movement from Undivided Sivasagar District (comprised of Sivasagar, Jorhat, Golaghat, Charaideo, Majuli districts) and for documenting them as real heroes of the nation, the Bharatiya Itihas Sankalan Samiti of Jorhat District in collaboration with ICHR and Teachers Unit of N. N. Saikia College, Titabar is going to organize a National Seminar with the theme, "Unexplored History of Indian Freedom Movement with special reference to Undivided Sivasagar District of Assam" to be held on 24th December, 2021.

"Exploring the Role of Subhas Chandra Bose in the Second World War and Freedom Movement of India with Special reference to North East India"

Thematic Rationale:

Netaji Subhas Chandra Bose was one of the greatest freedom fighter of India who shook the British Empire completely and compelled them to leave our country. In the year 1938 and 1939 he was elected as the president of Indian National congress but due to the differences of opinion with Gandhiji and his followers he left the congress and formed Forward Block. Due to his active involvement in Freedom struggle he was placed under house arrest by the British. At the outset of the Second World War, he had travelled to a number of countries, including Soviet Union, Nazi Germany, and Japan to seek alliance to attack the British in India and expelled them out from the country. In 1942 Netaji went to Japan and there he had organized the POW to form an army for the cause of independence of India. He assured full co-operation by Hideki Tojo, the Prime Minister of Japan for India's freedom from British dominions and the Japanese had handed over the island of Andaman and Nicobar to Subhas Chandra Bose in 1944. With his huge number of soldiers of the INA and support from like minded countries Netaji has given the slogan 'Delhi Cholo'.

When it comes to North-East India, the issue demands as well as deserves focal attention, since the significance of the roles played by this part of the land gets blurred when the National Leader is viewed from a global arena. North-East India has gone through the same turmoil of war waves as witnessed by other parts of India. Contribution of North East part of India is equally significant when talked of India's War of Independence. The Indian National Army led by Subhas Chandra Bose, the Japanese troop, and the civilians of North East in connection to their respective vision and interest have gone through phases that history needs to recollect with more vigour and specificity. In 1938, Netaji came to Assam as the president of AICC after getting invitation from Gopinath Bordoloi. The period was very critical for Assam.

When the Second World War broke out the national leaders of India declared that all the Congress Ministries should resign from the Government. However, Netaji had the clear views that the Bordoloi's Government need not resign because of the unique vulnerability of Assam on the border of India. Subhas Chandra Bose and his coming to Naga Hills has many opinions which leave us on the verge of fact finding and research documentations that might reveal a new phase of knowing Bose through close quarters. North-East India and especially Nagaland has gone through the same turmoil of war waves as witnessed by other parts of India.

Many facts and records on Subhas Chandra Bose is still not getting proper attention. A systematic study and research would necessary to highlight all the hidden aspects of Netaji's role in the freedom movement of India. The present seminar will try to highlight the role of Netaji in the Second World War and freedom movement of India with special reference to North Eastern region.
